3:30 P.M.

TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH
CORNER OF HAMILTON & RANDOLPH
PEORIA, ILLINOIS

LENORA McCROSKEY

LENORA McCROSKEY, associate professor of music, is coordinator of organ and harpsichord instruction. She is a specialist in 17th and 18th century keyboard music. She gives workshops on Spanish, Italian and French music, and concertizes widely in the United States. McCroskey holds degrees from Stetson University, Harvard University and a doctorate from the Eastman School of Music. Her organ teachers include Paul Jenkins and Russell Saunders. Her harpsichord study was with Gustav Leonhardt at the Amsterdam Conservatory, and Louis Bagger. Prior to teaching at North Texas, she was on the faculty of the Eastman School of Music and was assistant organist/choirmaster at the Memorial Church, Harvard University. McCroskey is parish musician at St. Ann's Episcopal Church in Fort Worth.

This program is sponsored in part by a grant from the Peoria Area Arts & Science Council and the Illinois Arts Council.
